Re: Health & Social Care Wensleydale

Thank you for your recent letter on behalf of Redmire Parish Council. We recognise that Wensleydale is one of the most rural places in the country and that this poses a range of challenges to the delivery of health and social care services, many of which you have raised in your letter.

We are keen to work with both providers and communities to address these challenges. In this letter we will set out some of the services and initiatives which are either already in place or being planned for the future. You address several concerns regarding services provided by a number of different partner organisations. We are increasingly attempting to develop integrated solutions across these organisations and will highlight progress on this.

One of the main themes of your letter concerns choice and access to services. In relation to improving the offer of home-based integrated health social care, this is one of the main priorities within the North Yorkshire Place plan. We are working closely with Health and Adult Services at North Yorkshire Council (NYC) to review and redesign intermediate care services to ensure people leaving hospital who require onward care are able to receive the most appropriate support. This will include looking at additional Home First capacity, recognising the challenges associated with delivering this in a highly rural setting.

Whilst our collective aim is to achieve Home First for people, in some circumstances people may require a short residential stay to ensure continued recovery, with a view to returning home if at all possible. The ICB has a joint arrangement with NYC for a number of short stay facilities in Extra care settings across Richmondshire which are designed to support a person's onward recovery. This is an innovative model which is exclusive to the Hambleton and Richmondshire areas at this time.

NYC continues to work with the local social care market on an ongoing basis to ensure appropriate, good quality home-based support options are available to people and are embarking on a transformation programme focussing on home care in coastal and rural communities, we have shared your concerns with the team responsible for this work who are keen to make sustained improvements in home-based support options. The team will make contact to seek your views relating to future services and models of care.

For those patients needing specialist secondary care services, they will need to be referred to a hospital site and of course not every hospital site will provide every specialty due to the need to maintain efficient use of capacity and best use of clinical specialists as well as maintaining key clinical skills. Wherever possible secondary care will seek to maintain outpatient services in more rural locations where it is economic and practical to do so.

The GP Practice at Leyburn does provide many of the services that you might expect within a health hub with a number of different clinicians available to reduce the need for onward referral. In addition, the development of the Catterick Integrated Care Centre (CICC) will further increase the availability of clinical services, however we recognise this is a medium-term plan with the aim that it will open in 2025. The Friary Hospital in Richmond has also had some extensive remedial works undertaken over the past year. These are now completed and the facility will continue to offer more locally-based services for the Richmondshire population. We recognise that people in Wensleydale will still need to travel to access these services.

We agree that addressing workforce challenges is important and this is another key priority within the North Yorkshire Place plan.

The Humber & North Yorkshire Integrated Care Board (ICB) has responsibility for health services across North Yorkshire and is fully committed to developing the workforce within the Health and Social Care sector. Indeed, there are four key priorities outlined below that also include improving access to health care to meet the needs of our population, both urban and rural as well as reducing inequalities such as any health issues that might impact on rural populations in particular.

- A supported and sustained workforce that has the power to innovate
- Access that meets the needs of our changing population
- A focus on population health and inequalities to level up
- Learning from each other and scaling up when it's right

Looking locally, the Richmondshire Primary Care Network of which covers the area recruited an additional 20wte staff with an ambition to recruit a further 15wte but March 2024 making a total of 35wte clinical staff.

Finally, you also raise some points in relation to transport, NYC colleagues have been doing a lot of work looking at the community transport offer in and around Leyburn and the wider Dales where public transport doesn't meet individual's needs. Our colleagues at NYC would be happy to provide an update on this work as it progresses.

We hope that this gives some insight into the range and breadth of work that is currently underway that would impact on the people of Wensleydale. We would welcome the opportunity to discuss this further with you and would be happy to arrange either a face-to-face meeting or a video call.

Kind regards
